

DIGITAL CITY

Abstract: The digital city has real property borders (10), government (14), business (15), resident (16), and television (17) directories. A computer and communication center (20) is built containing and connecting the directories. The entire community is uploaded into the directories creating a virtual public network.